Amazon.com – the world's largest Internet company

Amazon.com is the world's largest Internet company. It started out as an online bookstore in the middle of the 1990s and grew gradually over the years. Today Amazon sells almost everything from books and CDs to sportswear and electrical appliances. The company also produces its own tablets and e-readers.

Amazon offers its services all over the world. It operates its own websites in the UK, Germany, China, Australia, as well as many South American and Asian countries.

Amazon.com was founded by Jeff Bezos in 1994. It first operated out of a small garage somewhere in the state of Washington. Within a year Amazon offered hundreds of thousands of books. In 1997 Amazon.com started trading shares on the NASDAQ stock exchange. By 2000 it made over a billion dollars in sales.

As time went on Amazon.com grew steadily. It bought many of its rivals and today cooperates with other companies and lets them sell their products via the Amazon website. Amazon.com serves 20 million customers every day. Its annual income is over 34 billion dollars.

There are a number of reasons for Amazon's success. One of them is the company founder Jeff Bezos himself. TIME magazine's "Man of the Year" of 1999 is a visionary, an ambitious businessman who is not afraid of taking risks, even if it means a downturn for the company at first. Amazon's website tries to personalize the buying experience for its customers. It knows what you want and what you are interested in.

Although Amazon.com is the biggest internet retailer in the world it is often criticized. Economic experts say that Amazon is turning Internet business into a monopoly. Others point out the bad working conditions for Amazon employees.

Amazon is a business empire that sells almost anything cheaper and faster than anyone else.
